

HE KILLED HIS MAN, AND MADE THE OTHER MEASURE THE GROUND.

The Story of Robert Wynn, Who Killed One Man and Mortally Wounded Another, in San Antonio, Texas—His Early Career in Georgia—Taking a Shot at His Mother.

CUMMING, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—On the east bank of the Chattahoochee, a few hundred yards from William's ferry, stands a farm house, old and scarred by seasons of sun and storm. It is a picturesque old place, hooded in sombre bloom of state oaks. Here lives the widowed mother of Robert Wynn, who less than a month ago played the part as hero on the military plaza against two armed men, by defending himself against two armed men. The word report as given by the newspapers at the time, is counter-colored by private letters received by the family from disinterested parties. These state that instead of Wynn he was peacefully standing on the plaza, when two brothers—Nicholson by name—approached with the command not to move, that they intended killing him, and immediately opened fire, sending two shots before Wynn could get his pistol. Five shots were fired by Wynn, the sixth lodging in the barrel, when he threw up his hands and the crowd interfering stopped further trouble. One of his antagonists lay dead, the other, it was thought, mortally wounded. Wynn was wounded in the thigh, though not fatally, as at first reported. His attorney refused admitting him out on bail, stating the case would be disposed of the next day when Wynn would be acquitted.

HE USED HIS PISTOL BEFORE.
"Yes, I know the Wynn family well," said an old citizen of this town yesterday, when referring to the affair. "Several years ago they came here for school advantages, and Robert was then a green appearing, gawky boy, but in a very few years he lost all his awkward shyness, became enlightened and shot at his mother, or sister, or some member of the family." And the kind hearted old gentleman looked away with an absent seriousness, though shooting at no one, as he was one of the growths following the enlightenment of youth.

SMITH'S VIEWS GIVEN.
What He Thinks of Athens's New Rail Lines.
ATHENS, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Colonel Smith was in the city today, and a reporter tackled him on the railroad question. "What do you think of the prospects of the G. C. & N. R.?" "I believe it will be built," was the reply. "General Hoke has gone to work in a business way. There is no delay or foolishness about his enterprise, no waste of words or vague promises. There is a solidity about all his movements that shows that he means business. I think Athens can confidently count on securing this road, and it will do more to swell your business than any line that can be built."

"Will it pass through your farm?" "I do not know. An air line will carry it near my house. The engineering companies are at my old store, and they are exceedingly nice gentlemen. They are only running an air line, and will probably change it."

"What do you think of the Macon and Athens?" "I do not know. I can't understand that ecclatancy. It is not business like. The work of grading is not progressing as fast as it should from what I can learn. Everything seems to me unsatisfactory and unsettled. I think, however, that the road will be built to Athens. Too much money has been expended on it to be stopped now, or made a short local line to be sold. I learn that the hands at work, however, are paid off promptly, which is a good sign. Perhaps when spring time comes and the days lengthen, that better progress will be made."

THE BALLOTS STOLEN.
The New Phase of the Dougherty County Contest.
ALBANY, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The contest for tax collector of Dougherty County was set for today to be tried before Justice Roberts. Counsel for both parties had their list of tax delinquents ready at hand, prepared to offset each other's charges of ill-gain, which lists comprised considerably over two-thirds of the whole number of voters, and which included the names of many of our prominent citizens. The ballot box, which had been sealed and deposited in the court house vault immediately after the election, was brought into court, and plainly showed signs of having been tampered with. The seals had been cut and the lid to the box was unfastened. An investigation was made, and it was found that three hundred and twenty-five ballots were missing. The tally sheet and list of voters, which had been placed in the box with the ballots, had also been surreptitiously taken out. These facts, rather mysterious and startling in their nature, when revealed, put a temporary stop to the proceedings. Captain Hester, realizing that to urge the contest would necessitate an endless research and inquiry which would prove embarrassing to all concerned, gracefully withdrew his claims. T. M. Clayton is thereby left master of the field, and will apply for his commission at once. Speculation is now concerning the theft of the ballots, and an investigation will doubtless be instituted at once.

PICKINGS FROM ATHENS.
What the People of the Classic City Are Doing.
ATHENS, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Ex-Senator Barrow left for Washington this evening by the Richmond and Danville railroad. He went on legal business.

Dr. Wood Arnold, of Decatur, Ala., arrived yesterday and went over to Oconee county to investigate the rumored reports about the Wilkinson suffrage case.

Architect W. W. Thomas has about completed the plans for the new opera house. It will be one of the prettiest and best arranged theaters in the state.

The students are complaining very much about the condition of the university dormitories. The Banner-Watchman is taking up the fight for them. T. Sam Felt, who died so suddenly in Jacksonville on Monday last, was buried in Augusta, carried ten thousand dollars life insurance.

The Southern Mutual Insurance company will make their annual statement tomorrow. The Banner-Watchman will show a large business, splendid dividends, and superb management.

The demand for real estate is picking up greatly, and a boom has started. Considerable property changed hands yesterday.

Over two thousand shares have been subscribed for the Young Men's Christian association building and the members of the association guarantee $2,500. The citizens will contribute the remaining $7,500.

The Demosthenian society will celebrate its sixtieth anniversary next Saturday at the university chapel. The orator is Robert L. Morrell.

THE Y. M. C. A. in Decatur.
DECATUR, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Mr. Helmer, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association of your city, was in our town last night, to assist in organizing a Young Men's Christian association here. Some thirty of our young men met here in the room of the DeKalb Chronicle office, and perfected an organization by electing Mr. Willie Ansley president, H. E. Jewett and J. G. Pearce vice-presidents, E. L. Haynes and J. G. Pearce vice-presidents, Charles Wilson treasurer. A subscription is being raised to purchase furniture, etc., for their hall, and the young men are assured they will have sufficient in the right direction, and all our citizens are giving it all the encouragement possible.

Wants $4,000 Damages.
COVINGTON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Henry Simms, colored, who was hurt by the railroad last Saturday at the depot, has sued the Georgia railroad for four thousand dollars damages.

And they do say that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is one remedy without a rival. Price 25 cents.

THE ARMOUR TRAGEDY. Further Particulars of the Cowardly Assassination.

ATHENS, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Additional particulars of the Armour tragedy have been received. Almost a month ago THE CONSTITUTION published an account of Bill Armour stealing four mules and a wagon in South Carolina, and that the animals were sold in Athens. The mules belonged to Dr. Hokin, who followed Armour to Georgia and recovered his property. Among the crowd in Banks county who turned out and hunted for the thief was one of Bill Armour's cousins, Tom Armour, son of Taylor Armour, who bought the place of Captain D. C. Oliver in Banks county. This act on the part of Tom Armour enraged the friends of the thief, and they

RESOLVED ON HIS DEATH.
So last Sunday evening, about sundown, Paul Armour, brother of Bill, and Bill Posey, brother-in-law of the Armours, hid out on the roadside for him, just in front of W. C. Thomas's gate in Bushville district. Tom Armour, unconscious of the trap set for him, passed the spot where the would-be murderers lay concealed. At this instant the concealed parties stepped from their hiding places and confronted Tom Armour.

"Are you not sorry you have met us?" one of the men asked. "Why?" was the retort. Bill Posey replied by drawing a pistol. Tom Armour was unarmed, and had two desperate men against him. He undertook to ride around the men, remarking that he did not want any difficulty. Paul grabbed at his mule's bridle. That gave the animal fright and it turned completely in the road. Bill Posey by this time had his pistol.

LEVIED ON TOM.
who put spurs to his mule and tried to get out of the way. Just as he started Paul Armour fired his pistol, and the shot taking effect just above the waist band of his pants, on the left side. The ball ranged along the last rib for five inches, and then lodged. After this act the two assassins left for parts unknown and Tom Armour went to the house of Mr. W. S. Mize, brother-in-law to Mr. C. D. McKie, of this city. He asked Mr. Mize to send for a doctor as he was shot. He then walked into the house without saying anything more.

Taking down Mize's gun he started back. It happened that Mr. Mize had been out hunting Saturday evening, and had shot out all loaded shells. Mr. Mize, after some trouble prevailed on Armour to lie down when he sent for Dr. O'Quinn. The doctor made an examination of the wound, and found it by no means serious, but had the ball not struck the rib and ranged around, the shot would have proved fatal. Mr. Armour at last accounts was doing well, although he has not yet been moved from Mr. Mize's house. Paul Armour and Bill Posey have both left the county it is thought and are still at large.

THE AMOUR OF THE FINE
Was Found in the Pockets of a Peddler Who Inhabited Too Freely.
Toccoa, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Marshals Rainey and Carter had a lively time with a peddler here this afternoon. It seems that the peddler had imbibed too freely of mountain dew and was cutting up around the streets generally. When he was arrested he resisted so fiercely that a dray was called into service and he was hauled off to the calaboose despite his efforts to escape. When they arrived with him a search was made, and to get a bloody nose and long coat-sleeve in the engagement. Forty dollars were found in his pockets and was promptly taken in charge by Marshal Rainey, until the prisoner gets sober and appears before the mayor to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct.

THE COW IN THE CASE.
Remarkable Litigation Promised in Harmony Grove.
ATHENS, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Harmony Grove is at present in a very excited state over the arrest and detention of the Hon. Tandy E. Key's cows. Colonel Eli Riley, finding the aforesaid cows running at large, drove them into pens, and fed them on the highest quality of provender. Hon. T. E. Key refused and still refuses to pay the charges for the arrest and detention of the cows and yesterday sued out a possessory warrant. The fight will be very bitter, and the best legal talent of Harmony Grove will be employed on both sides.

HE LEFT WELL.
But Some One Ripped His Trunk of Twelve Hundred Dollars.
CANTON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—A most daring robbery was executed at Mr. Wells, a little town about seventeen miles north of Canton, last Friday night. A burglar entered the sleeping room of Mr. Samuel Pascal, an aged citizen, and took from his money chest about $1,200. His wife and daughter were sleeping in the same room with him and a light was burning, but none of them awoke, so noiselessly did the burglar perform his daring deed. Mr. Pascal thinks chloroform was used, and he hopes better than usual that night. No one is suspected of the crime.

Weddings in West Point.
WEST POINT, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Among all the joyous happenings of the season, was the marriage of Mr. C. S. Floyd, of Fort Valley, Ga., to Miss Lucy Wheat, which occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harris on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. Rev. A. W. Williams officiating in his most happy style. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wheat, in this place, and is a most estimable young lady, and by her sunny disposition has many warm friends, with wish for her much joy and happiness. The groom is a young merchant of Fort Valley, Ga., and is a most excellent young man, and has friends by the score, who wish for him and his bride a long and happy life.

Also at the same residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Harris, occurred the marriage of Mr. James Pate to Miss Mattie Harris, Rev. A. W. Williams officiating. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris, and is a young lady of rare accomplishments and beauty and grace, and will make for her husband a most excellent little wife. The groom is a leading salesman in the large dry goods store of Messrs. Heyman, Marx & Co., of this place, and has a host of friends who wish for him and his fair bride many blessings the earth has in store for the worthy.

A Surprise Wedding.
CEDARTOWN, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The marriage of Miss Belle Beaman, of Selma, Ala., and Professor W. W. Seals, of this place, which occurred at the residence of the bride's mother Monday morning, in Selma, was a complete surprise to everybody, only a few friends being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Andrews in his usual appropriate manner. The attendants were W. S. Butler, John and C. C. Shanks and Miss Cooper. The happy couple arrived here yesterday, and will make this place their future home.

Contract Awarded.
ALBANY, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The county commissioners have awarded the contract for the building of a bridge across the Flint to the Southern Bridge company of Birmingham, Ala. The bridge is to be an iron draw bridge, and will be a handsome structure. Work to be completed 30th of next January. Amount awarded contractors $5,400.

Fire in Gordon.
GORDON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The residence of Mr. S. S. Jones was consumed by fire early this morning. By some means the little negro girl set on fire when she went in the cook room to make a fire in the stove. All in the kitchen lost. All the furniture in the house saved. Insurance $600.

A Runaway Marriage.
COLUMBUS, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—There was a secret marriage in this city this evening. The justice who performed the ceremony and the ordinary both refuse to divulge the names of the parties. It is thought that they came from Fort Valley.

Rheumatism is primarily caused by acidity of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease.

MACON HAPPENINGS. WHAT HAPPENED IN THE CENTRAL CITY YESTERDAY.

A Bold Burglary—Closed by the Sheriff—A Runaway—The City Hall—Impressment on Buildings—In the Courts—Railroad Officials—Death of a Little Child.

MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—About 7 o'clock last night the store of H. Stein, a dry goods dealer, on Mulberry street, was closed by Sheriff Wescott. The store was locked and the keys are in the hands of the sheriff. A quantity of goods was left in the show windows. About 10 o'clock a countryman told T. W. Bond, the restaurant keeper at corner Fifth and Mulberry streets, that he thought a robbery had been committed, as he had heard the sound of some crashing glass while near the Dempsey building. An investigation was had, and it was found that the large plate glass window in the front of the store had been broken and a quantity of goods stolen. The police were informed, and were soon on track of the burglar. They found out that a white man named H. S. Erwin had been seen on Bridge row with a quantity of goods, and he was followed to Henry Hammond's bar, where he was found by the officers, trying to pawn the goods. He was put in the barracks, and will probably be carried to jail today.

IN THE COURTS.
What the Superior Court of Bibb is Engaged Upon.
MACON, February 16.—[Special].—Only one case was called in the superior court today. It was Dr. L. S. Mize vs. A. C. Hanson, manager of the Memphis Commercial Appeal and Business Review. Dr. Mize brings suit for $10,000 damages, alleging that he has been damaged to the extent of that amount by the publication of a certain article in the Memphis Appeal some time since. The defendant, Hanson, denies the charges. Messrs. Bacon & Rutherford—moved for a continuance on the ground of absence of important witnesses. After argument on both sides for some time, Judge Simmons decided the case was entitled to a continuance, which was granted. It would have proved quite an interesting case if it should have come up. The plaintiff is represented by Mr. Ben. Hill, of Atlanta, and Messrs. Dessau & Bartlett, of this city.

Two cases were tried before Judge Freeman this morning as follows: State vs. Lewis Gilbert for attempted arson. Gilbert was charged with trying to burn a barn in Vineville several days ago. He was discharged this morning as the evidence was not sufficient to hold him. The other case was that of the state vs. Jeff Alley. He was committed to jail and will be tried in the city court tomorrow. Alley is charged with assault and battery.

A RUNAWAY.
A Fine Animal Brought Injured While Running Away.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—This morning, about 10 o'clock, the horse attached to a machine wagon, owned by Herrington & Blackbar, ran away and injured Mr. Herrington, who was driving in some way the harness became loose, while on Oak street, and slipped, frightening the horse very greatly. He started off and while Mr. Herrington held him in very well, but finally Mr. H. seeing he could not hold him any longer headed him for a tree. The buggy struck the tree and threw Mr. Herrington out bruising his left leg very badly. The horse ran on down New street to Cotton avenue to Mulberry street and down Third to Main street, where it was finally caught by Chapman's stable. When he turned the corner at Davis's stable his shoulder struck a wagon standing near by and bent the axle, so great was the force with which he was coming. The horse is badly injured.

AT THE CITY HALL.
Recorder's Court and the Innates of the Barracks.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Recorder Baxter presided at the recorder's court this morning. The docket was very light. The case against M. Nussbaum and D. Wikowski was dismissed. These gentlemen were charged with fighting.

The amount of fines assessed in other cases was $75.00, none of which were collected. The city prison now has five inmates; two of them are white men, two are small negroes and one is a negro woman. All of them are confined upon unimportant charges. The woman present is charged with signing for whiskey. When she was locked up she was suffering from the delirium tremens.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.
New Buildings to be built by Professor Glenn and Others.
MACON, February 16.—[Special].—Professor Glenn will at once rebuild the burned buildings formerly occupied by Blackbar's photograph gallery, Blackbar's pawn shop and Herrington & Blackbar's sewing machine office. The buildings when finished will be very handsome and will have a modern front. The alterations are being halted now, and the work will begin in a few days. It is expected that several new buildings will be erected during the coming summer, among them a very handsome building on the corner of Cherry street and Cotton avenue, to be built by J. Danenburgh.

PROBATED.
The Will of Mrs. Amanda H. Johnson Probated After a Contest.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The will of Mrs. Amanda H. Johnson was probated in solemn form this afternoon. Mrs. Johnson was the widow of N. T. Johnson, a prominent merchant of Macon. The caveators claimed that when Mr. Johnson died that he left his property to Mrs. Johnson on the condition that when she died she would leave her estate to all her children and grandchildren. She thought otherwise and left her fortune to various charities, giving only a part to relatives. The relatives claimed that this was sufficient ground for the break in the will. The probate court decided otherwise, and as stated before, the will was probated this afternoon. Miller and Duncan appeared for caveators. Dessau & Bartlett sustained the will. The matter will be carried to the superior court.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.
The Evening News to Make Important Improvements.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The Macon Evening News, under the editorial management of Judge Kit Warren and Jerome B. Pound, is steadily improving. A new press will be placed in a few weeks, the new one having proved incapable of fast enough work, and a new and complete job office is doing a prosperous business. The News now stands at the head of the list as one of the best evening papers in the state.

Death of a Little Child.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The two-year-old child, Della Marie, of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Shackelford, died last evening, at the home on Plum street. The remains will be carried to Augusta, this evening, and will be interred tomorrow. The friends of the family sympathize with them in their afflictions.

Personals.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Ben H. Hill, of Atlanta, is in Macon today. Arthur Foster, of Darien, was in the central city on Wednesday. Librarian Charles Herbst has returned from an extended visit to the golden gate.

The Bottom of the Sea
Yields no pearl that can exceed in beauty teeth whitened and cleaned with that incomparable dentifrice, the fragrant SOZODONT. Nor is coral rosier than the gums in which such teeth are set. So say the ladies, who are the best judges in such matters.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS. President Alexander and the Directors on a Tour.

MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—President Alexander and the directors of the Central railway, and the directors passed through the city today on a tour of inspection. The special train consisted of an engine and two coaches. They made a very short stay and left for Birmingham via Atlanta. A party will probably make a longer stay in Macon on their return in a couple of weeks.

CLOSED BY THE SHERIFF.
A Mulberry Street Dry Goods Man Has His Stock Locked Up.
MACON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The store of H. Stein, on Mulberry street, was closed by Sheriff Wescott. The store was locked and the keys are in the hands of the sheriff. A quantity of goods was left in the show windows. About 10 o'clock a countryman told T. W. Bond, the restaurant keeper at corner Fifth and Mulberry streets, that he thought a robbery had been committed, as he had heard the sound of some crashing glass while near the Dempsey building. An investigation was had, and it was found that the large plate glass window in the front of the store had been broken and a quantity of goods stolen. Erwin had been seen on Bridge row with a quantity of goods, and he was followed to Henry Hammond's bar, where he was found by the officers, trying to pawn the goods. He was put in the barracks, and will probably be carried to jail today.

THE CRIMINAL DOCKET.
Burglars and Horse Thieves Given a Taste of Justice.
JEFFERSON, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—The criminal docket in our superior court was taken up Monday morning and several cases have already been disposed of. One negro guilty of burglarizing a dwelling house and was sentenced to the penitentiary. Another negro was found guilty of "stabbing another," and still a third one was convicted of "riding the horse of another."

The thorough show of R. D. and Nat Sharp was called. The trial of this case is being watched with great interest by the friends of all concerned, and its termination will be looked forward to with great anxiety. Our court will probably adjourn next Thursday evening.

De Haven's Show.
FORSYTH, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Quite a large crowd are in the city today attending De Haven's show and menagerie. It is one of the best shows ever here. The collection of animals is large and entertaining. The best people of the city turned out. The manager, Mr. Nail, a showman of long experience, says that throughout the south he has had a good attendance and from the best people. From here he goes to Thomaston, Barnesville, Carrollton and the principal towns on the Central to Atlanta. Mr. Nail, the manager, is a southern gentleman, having lived for many years at Salisbury, N. C., where he owns a large amount of property and is held in high esteem by all who know him.

DEATHS IN GEORGIA.
CLARKSVILLE, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—Mr. L. H. Fyles, of Clarksville, Ill., died at his residence on Main street at 12 o'clock last night. He was one of our best citizens, and his loss will be greatly felt. He was a man of high Christian and noble character, and his relatives and friends of our deceased friend have their heartfelt sympathy. Mr. James M. Hunt, Jr., of Clarksville, died on Sunday.

Mrs. Peggy Gresham, widow of Josiah Gresham, a Primitive Baptist minister, well known by the old settlers of Georgia and South Carolina, died on the 14th instant on her ninetieth birthday. She drew a pension of $12 per month, her husband having died in the service of the state. She was 92 years old and died on that day for over two years.

Mr. Charles R. Galie, who died in Nice, France, a few days ago, was the brother of Mrs. Robert A. Tripp, of Milledgeville. He spent the greater part of his life in New York, with the relatives of his mother, the second wife of Charles R. Galie, who was a commanding officer at Fort McAllister, near Savannah, at the time it was taken by Sherman's army, just before the fall of that city, and was killed while making a most gallant defense of the fort.

The Douglasville Star speaking of the coal find on Sweetwater creek, says: Not having seen the coal ourselves, we are not prepared to say what it is and we wait developments. We trust that it may turn out to be a valuable find. But a large amount of coal has been found in this section, and it is not unlikely that we have talked to three different men, who say that they can show the coal cropping out in several places on Sweetwater creek. One of them told us he could go to a spot not eight miles from Douglasville, and get a wagon load of coal in an hour by digging it out of the ground. We are not at liberty at present to give the names of these gentlemen, but they are responsible men, and are considered reliable in all things.

The Georgia Historical Society of Savannah has passed its forty-eighth anniversary. Mr. William Harden has been the society's librarian for eighteen years, and that he has obtained a large experience in library work. The accessions to the library last year were 579 bound volumes and 384 pamphlets. In addition to the current publications of the United States government, the society received, through a system of exchange with other libraries of the interior, a large number of congressional documents of former years, and it has been accumulating for years. In this way the society's set of the Congressional Globe and Record have been made complete to a very recent date, and it is a large and valuable collection which goes a long way toward making the set of miscellaneous public documents complete.

The Muscogee grand jury, in its presentments, thus reads a lecture to the city council of Columbus. We congratulate your honors upon the decrease in crime and violation of law in this county the past year. We are satisfied is attributable in a great degree to a fear of the punishment that arises from a strict enforcement of the law by the court. This grand jury is impressed with the fact that a large majority of the criminal cases brought to this court for trial are for crimes committed within the corporate limits of the city of Columbus, and in its opinion, while there is a population, where better order is observed, where fewer crimes are committed, and that contains a more law-abiding people; yet we respectfully suggest that if the city authorities would pass ordinances for the prevention of gambling, carrying concealed weapons, keeping houses of ill fame, prostitution and vagrancy within the corporate limits, and provide for vigorous enforcement of them by the mayor and police, that the number of violations of law would decrease in proportion to the vigilance of the officers.

GLENN ON TRIAL. AN ATLANTA BOY IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE.

He Tells the Story of His Wanderings All Over the Country, and His Visit to Grimes—How He Met With His Victim, and Committed the Murder—The Proceedings, Etc.

GRIFFIN, Ga., February 16.—[Special].—When court convened at eight and a half o'clock this morning the courtroom was already crowded with people interested in the trial of the case of the state vs. E. W. Glenn, charged with the murder of J. J. Couch. The case was called promptly at 8:30 and both sides announced ready. The state was represented by Solicitor General Emmett Wamock, Judge John D. Stewart and E. W. Hammond. The defense was represented by Judge John L. Hall and F. D. Dismuke. The jury was selected by eleven o'clock, and Judge Stewart opened the case in behalf of the state. The state then introduced two witnesses, namely: Dr. R. H. Taylor and Captain Hartnett. They testified as to the killing of Couch, when he was found, the direction the ball took in passing through the body and the confession of Glenn to the killing.

THE MOTHER OF THE DEAD MAN TESTIFIES.
Mrs. Couch, the mother of J. J. Couch, went on the stand and testified to the killing of her son. She told of his coming home on the evening of the night before he was killed from his week's work; that he ate his supper, dressed and went up town, that the next time she saw him was "lying cold and dead on the sidewalk near the shooting gallery." She said she never knew of her son carrying any pistol; that he did not have a pistol to her knowledge.

E. W. Glenn, the defendant, went on the stand and made a statement. His manner was quiet and unaffected. His statement was full and made a good impression.

He said he was born in Atlanta, that he lived in Fulton county in Monroe county until he was seventeen years old; that at that age he went to Texas and lived there as a farm-hand for five months; he then went on the railroad where he worked about a year. He was in Texas, Montana, Wyoming and other western states until about a month before he came to Griffin, when he came back to Atlanta, where he has friends and relatives. The first of September, 1884, he came to Griffin and opened a shooting gallery. The second or third night after he opened his gallery, Couch came in and shot a few times. Glenn told of several disturbances that Couch had created in his place of business, that he had to call the policeman in to quiet him. On the night of the killing Couch came in to the gallery in a drinking condition and asked to shoot. He was given a gun and shot a few times. Some little negro came in, attracted by the shooting, and Couch pointed the gun cocked at them and ran them out. While in the gallery Couch took a flask of whisky from his pocket and took a drink. Couch finally after much perspiration went outside, but continued to curse him. He then threw a rock at him, which he dodged. Couch then said "God damn you, I missed you, then I will hit you this time," and came up the steps with his hand in his hip pocket, and I shot him.

STATE IN REBUTTAL.
The state introduced S. G. Cunningham, a policeman, and proved that he had told Glenn that Couch was a quiet, peaceable man when sober; was noisy when drunk, but there was no danger in him. He had put him in the guard-house several times for being drunk and noisy on the streets.

T. D. George went into Glenn's shooting gallery about half past eleven o'clock. Couch and two other young men were in there shooting. In a minute or two Couch hit the bullseye and rang the bell. Couch was leaning over the counter; he had on a sea coat and it was pulled up and exhibited a bottle of whisky in his pistol pocket. Glenn reached over and took the bottle out of Couch's pocket. I said: "Couch, you have beat him shooting; it is time to go home." Couch said: "I think so," Glenn said: "No; let's shoot again." I went out; Couch remained.

GLENN GOES BACK ON THE STAND
and said that he was never put on notice that Couch was dangerous. On the contrary, he had been told to watch Couch, that he was mad with him and would hurt him. Mr. George's statement is not true. I never took the bottle out of Couch's pocket.

R. P. Doe, policeman, testified that on Saturday night before the killing, T. G. Manley, S. G. Cunningham and myself took Glenn in response to an inquiry from Glenn as to what kind of a man Couch was, we told him he was troublesome when drinking, but he was not dangerous; that we had put him in the guard-house frequently, but had never found a pistol on him, hardly ever a pocket knife. The state closed, the defense had nothing further to say, and having introduced no testimony, had the opening and conclusion before the jury. Colonel F. D. Dismuke opened for the defense and had not concluded when court adjourned until tomorrow morning at half past eight o'clock. Judge Stewart and Solicitor-General Wamock will speak for the state, and Judge Hall will conclude for the defense. The courtroom has been packed with attentive listeners all day. It is impossible to form any idea as to what the verdict will be.

Glenn certainly thinks that he acted in self-defense. He does not seem to be uneasy, but is confident that the jury will acquit him. Three of his relatives from Atlanta are with him.

THROUGH THE CITY.

Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by the Constitution Reporters.

ACQUITTED.—In the city court yesterday William Cassell was tried for assault and battery. The jury, after remaining out only a few minutes, returned a verdict of "not guilty," and the defendant was discharged.

SEING THE CITY.—Yesterday a suit was instituted against the city of Atlanta by Thomas A. Johnson for $1,000 damages. The plaintiff alleged that he was injured by falling into an open ditch which the city had carelessly left uncovered.

HE ABUSED HIS WIFE.—A suit for divorce has been filed in the superior court by Flora Ann George against Madison George. The plaintiff alleges that her husband abused her fearfully. They were married March 16th, 1881.

HE WHIPPED HER.—Rena Armstrong wants a divorce from her husband, Greenville Armstrong, because he maltreated her. They were married July 10th, 1879. They lived together until January 1st, 1887, when they separated. Since then they have not lived together.

THE ORDINARY'S COURT.—Yesterday Judge Gibson granted homestead to Sara E. Gaudin. Amanda I. Tuttle was appointed guardian of the property of Annie E. Tuttle. Levi Brotherton was appointed permanent guardian of Mrs. Wm. L. McLean et al.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.—Judge Blackley, of the state supreme court, yesterday morning announced that the report of the committee appointed to prepare a memorial to the late Lewis W. Whittey, of Bibb county, will be heard on next Saturday at two o'clock p. m.

SCHOOL FUNDS.—State school Commissioner, submitted to Governor Gordon, yesterday a statement of drafts drawn by him on the tax collectors of twenty-one counties, representing each county's quota of the school fund for 1887. The drafts were received and accepted for cash, and Governor Gordon ordered a warrant to be issued for the amount. The total amount is $44,000.23.

A PRE-HISTORIC IDOL.—A short time ago Mr. J. W. Sykes dug up on the place of Mr. J. W. Burge, on Kiscoon creek, Bartow county, an Indian idol. The figure represented a human figure and is a work of art. It weighs about fifty pounds and is about twenty-six inches high. The material of the image is silver ore, and it is estimated to contain $150 worth of silver. The idol will be exhibited in Atlanta for a few days.

SHE WANTS $20,000.—Francis Hicks has brought suit against the Richmond and Danville railroad for $20,000. In December, 1881, when the plaintiff was a child only five years old, she was injured at a station called King's Mountain. Her head and spine were broken, and she has never recovered from her injury. She claims that her hurt was produced by the gross carelessness of the company's employees. She is represented by Merrill & Merrill.

A CURIOUS SUIT.—In the superior court there has been filed a suit for $5,000 damages against the Atlanta saw works. The plaintiff is William J. Carter, who has been injured by the saw works. He claims that he was injured by the gross carelessness of the company's employees. She is represented by Merrill & Merrill.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.—Clarissa Harris, an old negro woman, died very suddenly yesterday afternoon at her son's home on Johns street. The old woman was about sixty years of age, and lived nearly all her life in this county. She was a slave, and during her entire life up to the date of her freedom, belonged to but one person. Since the war she has taken great pride in the fact that she was never sold. The old woman's death was due to congestion of the lungs. Several days ago she was seized with a severe cold which was the remote cause of her death.

A SUIT FOR $10,000.—Haygood & Martin, as the attorneys of Georgia Walker, have filed a suit in the superior court against the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company. The plaintiff claims $10,000 damages. On the 14th day of last December the claimant was injured by a freight train while he was riding in a wagon just beyond the limits of Atlanta. He alleged that the train was going at the rate of thirty miles an hour and it was owing to the engineer's carelessness that he was hurt.

TO LOOK OVER ATLANTA.—Phil D. Armour, the great Chicago pork packer, accompanied by Mr. John Plankinton, of Milwaukee, one of the largest capitalists in the north, will reach Atlanta this morning on the Georgia Pacific. The gentlemen have been looking through Alabama's new cities, and will not be satisfied with their trip until they have given the city of the south a look. The gentlemen will spend the day looking over the city, and tonight will be entertained at the Kimball by several Atlantans.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.—Miss Josephine Baker was united in marriage last night to Mr. William Ford. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents on Myrtle street, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The Rev. Mr. Norcross officiating. After the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by their friends, enjoyed a magnificent collation. The bride is a young lady well known in Atlanta, and is quite a favorite with all who know her. The groom is a young and industrious mechanic, who had the forethought to provide a home for his bride before promising to love, cherish and protect.

SERIOUSLY BURNED.—Matilda Mosely, a six year old white girl, whose home is on Pine street, near the old branch, was seriously burned yesterday afternoon about the face and hands. The child was standing in front of the fire place, in which there was quite a big fire, rocking back and forth on a round stick. In rocking she lost her balance, and fell face forward into the fire. Before she could recover herself, the left side of her face had been badly burned as well as her hands, which she placed in the fire in her frantic efforts to extricate herself. Dr. Johnson was called in and dressed the wounds. The child's injuries are considered quite serious, but not fatal.

REVISING THE CONSTITUTION.—The committee appointed to revise the constitution of the Columbia Theological Seminary met in the central Presbyterian church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and remained in session until noon, when an hour's recess was taken for dinner. In the afternoon the sitting was resumed and another adjournment was had for supper at 6 o'clock. The committee is composed of the following delegates representing the four synods which control the Columbia Seminary: The Rev. J. L. Girard, of Columbia, S. C., and the Rev. George Sumner, of Chester, S. C., representing the South Carolina synod; Dr. J. H. Bryson, and Dr. W. Hooper, from the Alabama synod; the Rev. J. N. Bradshaw, and Dr. G. B. Strickler, Georgia synod; the Hon. Joel H. Billups, from the Florida synod. All the members except Mr. Billups were present. Dr. Strickler was elected chairman. The constitution of the seminary was most carefully revised. The section providing for vacating professorships was simplified. The evolution controversy was not in any way touched upon. The revisions made by the committee will be submitted to the synods for confirmation or rejection. The committee was in session till near midnight, when it adjourned sine die.

GIVES HIS BODY AWAY.

A NEGRO DIES AFTER WILLING HIS BODY TO THE COLLEGE.

Joe Smith, the Negro Who Was Detected in Robbing Graves at Decatur, Dies of Consumption—Before Dying He Gave His Body to a Medical College—Not Yet Buried.

"And put in my will there, Mr. Lawyer, please, after you fix the rest of it, that I will my body to the Medical college," said Joe Smith to a Atlanta lawyer, who was writing a paper disposing of his client's effects after death.

"Your body to the medical college!" said the lawyer in surprise. "Yes, boss, to the Atlanta Medical college, please. You see this consumption has got a strong grip on me, and I can't last long. Then, too, when I'm dead it don't make any difference what becomes of the body. It's only the soul that we must care for after death. You see, boss, I got into bad trouble once, and that medical college was kind to me, and I don't know any better way to pay them back than to give 'em my body."

Joe Smith was the negro who for years the trusted sexton of the cemetery at Decatur. He was known throughout DeKalb county almost, and was thought to be an honest, faithful guardian of the home of the dead. A year or two ago, however, George Vaughn, who is a well-known ghoul, was detected robbing graves in the Decatur cemetery, and with him was Smith. The discovery turned the tide against Smith, and for awhile it was feared that both darkies would be quickly dealt with. Smith was placed in jail and was subsequently tried and convicted with Vaughn. Smith was sent to jail to serve his term, while Vaughn was cared for by his friends. Smith's confinement in jail brought on consumption, and when Smith was released his condition was bad. His connection with the grave robbery left him no friends in Decatur, and a few weeks ago he came to Atlanta. He was then in a dying condition almost, and on Saturday last died. Before dying he willed his body to the medical college. Soon after his death it was ascertained that he had not left enough to pay his burial expenses, and the DeKalb county authorities were notified and requested to bury him. They declined to do so because he died outside the county. The city of Atlanta was then applied to for burial expenses, and the matter was turned over to a certain firm. He soon gathered all the facts and at the college ascertained that no use could be made of Smith's body. The college, after hearing all the statements, induced the city to bury Smith, and today his body will be laid to rest in Westview cemetery at the expense of the college.

A VISITING COMMITTEE.
The Affairs of D. N. Freeman & Co. Being Looked Into by New York Firms.

The affairs of D. N. Freeman & Co., jewelers and small dealers, corner Whitehall and Alabama streets, are yet in an unsettled condition. Mr. Jack J. Spalding, the temporary receiver, is still in charge and will so remain until relieved by an order from the same court which gave him the custody of the business. On yesterday three New York jewelry dealers reached Atlanta, as representatives of the creditors of the firm, and after a consultation with Mr. D. N. Freeman, the manager, and his attorney began investigating the condition of affairs. The exact object of the visit is unknown, as all the parties interested decline to talk, but it is generally believed that the visitors will give the firm a thorough examination, and after thoroughly satisfying themselves return to New York, and advise all interested to compromise or not compromise, as they think best. Freeman & Co. are offering fifty cents on the dollar to their unpreferred creditors, and it is the general impression that the offer will be accepted. The visitors will probably remain in the city the balance of the present week. Saturday next, the 18th instant, is the day set by Judge Clarke upon which the defendants must appear before him and show cause why the requests of the petitioners for a permanent receiver should not be granted.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.
Nuptials of Mr. Robert E. Riley and Miss Rose Wyllie.

The First Presbyterian church was crowded last night with the many friends of Mr. Robert E. Riley and Miss Rose Wyllie, and of their families, who gathered to witness the wedding ceremony of this well-known young couple, the former a son of Captain E. S. Riley and the latter the daughter of Dr. James S. Wyllie, and the latter the eldest daughter of one of Atlanta's most prominent merchants, Captain James R. Wyllie.

Half-past eight o'clock the wedding party arrived and entered the church, as follows: Mr. Den Willingham and Miss Maggie Morton, of Athens; Mr. Joe Edleman and Miss Tillie Morton, of Athens; Mr. Clark Howell and Miss Mammie McCall; Mr. Will Frank and Miss Minnie May; Mr. Gordon Kiser and Miss Della McDuffy; Mr. Ben Wyllie and Miss Carrie Craig. The bride and groom followed, immediately preceded by their best couple, Mr. Jim Riley, brother of the groom, and Miss Jim Wyllie, sister of the bride. The attendants arranged themselves in a semi-circle around the altar, before which stood the contracting couple.

The ceremony was performed in a most impressive manner by the Rev. Dr. Barnett, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Hawthorne, after which the wedding party retired to the elegant home of the bride's parents, on Peachtree street, where a few special friends and relatives joined them in extending hearty congratulations.

The ushers at the church were Messrs. Charles Tuller, Jim Carleton, Will Flanders and Marshall Eckford. The groom is one of the most popular of Atlanta's young men, of sterling qualities and a genial and happy disposition, which has won for him a staunch circle of friends, not only among his companions, but among the older and solid business men of the city. The bride is well known as one of the most lovely young ladies of the city. Her bright and cheerful disposition, her many noble, womanly attributes, and beautiful traits of character, well fitted her as the helpmate of one who would be more blessed than in securing such a wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley left last night at 12:30 o'clock, by the Western and Atlantic railroad, for Philadelphia, via Cincinnati. The best wishes of hundreds of friends accompany them on their trip.

Dyspepsia in its worst form will yield to the use of Carter's Little Liver Pills said by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

The Beginning of the End.
The beginning of disease is a slight debility or disorder of some of the vital organs, the stomach, the liver or the bowels usually. There are dyspeptic symptoms, the liver is troublesome, the skin grows tawny and unhealthy looking, there are pains in the right side or through the right shoulder blade. The climax is often an utter prostration of the physical energies, perhaps a fatal issue. But if the difficulty is met in time with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is always effective as a remedy, and it should be resorted to at an early stage, there will be no reason to apprehend those injurious subsequent effects upon the system often entailed by entirely cured diseases. Far better is it, also, to employ this safe remedial agent in fever and ague, and other malarial complaints, than quinine and other potent drugs, which, even when they do prove effective for a time, ruin the stomach and impair the general health.

Are you nervous or dyspeptic? Carter's Little Liver Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic; either one renders you miserable and these little pills cure both.

DOBB'S WEY & CO.'S LATEST OFFER.—EXtraordinary bargains in Fine White and Decorated China. The largest stock, the lowest prices, in the state.

We find ourselves crowded for room and with a much larger stock on our hands than we deem prudent to keep on hand for the year. The fact is we ARE OVERSTOCKED! and we must reduce the surplus in short order. To accomplish this, and a the same time demonstrate how exceedingly cheap first-class goods can be sold when bought from the European manufacturers in large quantities, we offer from this date until January 1, subject to stock on hand, at date of receiving the order, the following special prices. Note:

SHOT AT A THIEF.

AN EAST TENNESSEE WATCHMAN RUNS AFOUL A CAR-BREAKER.
And Fires at Him Three Times—The Third Ball
Takes Effect and Makes a Wound Lethal.
But the Blood—The Wounded Man Makes His Escape—Marks of Blood, Etc.

"Stop there, or take a taste of this lead!"
yelled Watchman Wylie to a car-breaker in the East Tennessee railroad yard about one o'clock yesterday morning, and immediately after the watchman's challenge was uttered the pistol shots rang out in the still night air, and with the shots came a horrible, terrible yell, full of pain.

Watchman Wylie is a small man, with an abundance of activity and plenty of pluck. He is night guard in the East Tennessee yards near the East Tennessee shops, in the southwestern portion of the city, and is a man who gives his entire time and attention to his duties. For several nights past he has noticed men skulking about in the yard, and when they were detected they were called upon them to stop, they always managed to escape by darting under the cars or dodging out of sight.
Two or three nights ago a car
was robbed of a large quantity of property, and when Mr. Wylie heard of it he determined to apply an extra amount of vigilance. Night before last soon after he went on duty he made two or three excursions through the yard, and on one of these he saw between the cars and familiarizing himself with the situation of the trains for the night. On one of these trains he noticed two men passing down the railroad track. They were too far off to halt, but their presence did not lessen the watchman's determination to keep up a careful lookout.

About one o'clock in the night, Mr. Wylie passed up one side of a long train, and when about half way the train standing under.
As he raised up he saw a man standing beside a car door about four cars away, apparently working with the lock on the door. The watchman instantly suspected that the man was trying to break into the car, and as quickly decided to arrest him. He knew that it would be hard to get any nearer the man without attracting his attention, and at once decided upon his course. Drawing his pistol and assuming an upright position he took a square aim and then called out:

"Stop there or take a taste of this lead."
As he spoke he moved forward with his pistol leveled at the man's head. The man heard the call, but instead of obeying it, wheeled quickly and darted off. Mr. Wylie instantly pressed his finger against the trigger and, as the report rang out, darted after the fugitive. For a second the smoke hid from his view the man at whom he had fired, but the instant the smoke cleared away the man could be plainly seen. The watchman cocked his pistol again and he ran and called out:

"Stop, or I'll fire again."
The second command was disregarded, and in a second the watchman sent another bullet flying through the air after the suspected car-breaker. When the smoke cleared away again the man was still upon his feet moving, but the race had been in favor of the watchman, who had gained quite a distance. Seeing that he had closed the space enough to guarantee a good shot, Mr. Wylie fired a third time, and the best aim the darkness of the hour would permit, pulled the trigger for the third time.
Almost before the report had died away a terrible yell greeted the watchman's second shot, and a second time he saw the man at whom he fired rise from the ground and instantly fall again. Believing that he had winged his game, the watchman put his pistol away and started forward, but before he had taken two steps the man was upon his feet again and running for life. The watchman again gave chase, but not being willing to leave his yard unprotected abandoned it after he had gone some distance.

After abandoning the chase the watchman returned to the spot where the fugitive had fallen, and by the aid of matches found quite a pool of blood upon the ground. This satisfied Mr. Wylie that he had hit the man, and into the fugitive's hide, and then he returned to his yard.
Early yesterday morning the case was reported at police headquarters and Chief Connelly at once detailed members of the force to look into it. The detailed men gave the entire day to the case, but so far have not been able to ascertain anything.

ing out; strengthens, cleanses, heals scalp, 50c.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her feel like a different person, at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

Sensible woman! No trouble in convincing a woman of her stamp to keep a box of Carter's Pills in the house. Sold by Bradford & Ware, Atlanta.

TAX COLLECTORS AND RECEIVERS.

The Time Specified by Law Wherein These Officers Shall File Their Bonds.

Section 151 of the code of Georgia specially states that bonds of tax collectors and receivers shall be filed with the governor within forty days after the day of election for examination and approval, and the offices of those failing to comply with the law shall be declared vacant and a new election held. This year the return of bonds have been unusually slow. Quite a large number of counties have not yet been heard from. In a great many cases of this kind the fault lies with the officials, as it appears that in several counties the bonds have been filed with the governor, and the seal of his office attached and then carelessly laid away. As an example, the bonds of the tax collector and receiver of Fulton county, were approved by Ordinary Cabanot, about the middle of last month, and they have not yet been filed with the attorney general, the clerk of the county commissioners having them locked up in his desk. Another instance, in that of Oconee county, the ordinary of which held back the bonds for over two weeks.

The election of tax collectors and receivers took place on the 5th of January last, and the time allowed by the law for the filing of their bonds expired on the 14th of this month.
Following is a list of counties whose bonds were received within the last two days, accepted by Governor Gordon and ordered filed, it being the return of bonds have been solely responsible for not sending the bonds in earlier:

Receivers—Chatahoochee, Clayton, Dawson,
Jefferson, Jackson, Lumpkin, Newton, Telfair, Taylor, Union, Wilkes.

Collectors—Chatahoochee, Colquitt, Clayton, DeKalb, Dawson, Lumpkin, Telfair, Upson, Wilkes.

Following is a list of counties in which the bonds of receivers and collectors were received but returned for the ordinary's seal and other irregularities:
